

Avidin [HRP conjugated]

HRP-labeled avidin is used as a high-affinity detection reagent in immunoassays, such as ELISA, Western blotting, and immunohistochemistry, to detect biotinylated antibodies or antigens. After binding to a biotinylated molecule, the horseradish peroxidase (HRP) enzyme in the conjugate reacts with a substrate to produce a colored, detectable signal, allowing researchers to visualize or quantify the target molecule

| | |
|-------------------|-------------------------|
| Catalog No. | 505002 |
| Size | 5g |
| Product Category | Immunodetection Reagent |
| Storage/Stability | -20°C/1 year |
| Shipping | Gel Packs |

www.realgenelabs.com

For Research Use only